War Declared On Law Breakers Newton Leaves School Board

Accent on public service seems to be the theme for the budget sessions of the City Council this year, with emphasis on police protection.

The Council approved the purchase of an $1800 beach buggy which will serve a dual capacity . . . to carry policemen across the beach in their attempt to calm beach activities, and to give Bill Askew, public works superintendent, equipment with which to clean the beach.

Before the purchase is final, the Council demanded a performance test of the "Tiger" beach buggy, available immediately from Sacramento.

In addition to the beach buggy, the Council gave their approval to hire two more policemen and one ad-

School District annexed to the Junior College district. He is department head of mechanical engineering at the Naval Postgraduate School.

Steve H. Sassoon was elected president of the board for the 1968-69 season, replacing Clayton B. Neill Jr. Dr. Hilton Bialek was elected clerk, and Richard T. ## 'Seven Keys to Baldpate' Alternates With 'See How They Run' at Circle

The most popular play from the pen of the beloved George M. Cohan, a play which combines both the thrills of a mystery melodrama and the laughs of a farce comedy, has been chosen as the next presentation of the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula. This is "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which will open on Thursday, August 1.

The hectic goings-on at Baldpate Inn, a summer hotel, begin when William Magee, a writer of who-dun-it fiction, goes there in the dead of winter to win a bet by turning out a 10,000-word story in twenty-four hours. Believing that he has the only key in existence to the isolated inn, the peace and quiet he sought there is shortly broken by shrieks, disappearing corpses, double-dealing and general pandemonium after the possessors of six other keys to Baldpate, one after another, turn the lock. The harried novelist is confronted by a crook, an adventuress, a grafting mayor, a ghostly hermit, a corrupt corporation president and his aide, and a beautiful girl newspaper reporter.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is representative of the scores of phenomenal stage successes by the great George M. Cohan. The fact of the matter is that the author wrote strictly to entertain audiences, and judging from his record number of hits, he has achieved this purpose. In "Seven Keys to Baldpate," Cohan has combined equal parts of hair-raising mystery and uproarious comedy. Although there will be a nostalgic appeal to the theatre fans who will be drawn to the Circle Theatre to see Cohan's most popular play, all audiences will discover that this mystery-farce classic is a timeless play, packing as many laughs and excitement as it ever did, for that "Yankee-Doodle-Andy" was a master of his craft.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" is under the direction of Charles Thomas. After its opening on August 1st, it will alternate Thursday through Sunday with the current production at the Circle, "See How They Run," a farce comedy by Phillip King.

Reservations for both shows are now being accepted at the theatre box office at 624-2669.

Beverly Blair of Carmel will take the lead role of Blanche in STREETCAR NAMED DESIRE which opens July 26 at Welles Humanist Educational Theatre.

Try-outs for 'Come Blow Your Horn'

The Studio Theatre on Dolores Street will hold auditions Sunday at 2:30 and Monday at 7:00 to select a cast for the Neil Simon comedy "Come Blow Your Horn."

The Hal March role of Alan Baker calls for a man-about-town type between 25 and 35. His parents, who were Lou Jacobi and Pert Kelton in the Broadway production are essentially comic types of suitable age. Buddy, the younger brother, could be anywhere from 18 to 25 which is also the range for the two attractive girls who complete the cast of six.

"Come Blow Your Horn," predecessor of "Barefoot In The Park" and "The Odd Couple" in the Neil Simon hit list, will go into rehearsal at once under the direction of Gary Eldridge and will open at the Studio on September 6 for a run of six or seven weeknds. Anyone unable to attend the scheduled try-outs may call 624-1661 or 624-2321 to arrange another time. 2321 to arrange another time.

An Ad in the Pine Cone is a Better Value

Theatre Review

THE SWIMMER . . . A version of John Cheever story concerning a man who is a victim of the affluent society. Burt Lancaster stars.

IN COLD BLOOD . . . An authentic film version of Truman Capote's study of two killers who commit a senseless multiple murder.

BANDOLERO . . . Two outlaw brothers join with a sheriff and posse when they are all attacked by a band of Mexican banditos.

ROSEMARY'S BABY . . . Mia Farrow bears the Devil's baby. It's a great movie but recommended for adults only. A very scary film.

THE SILENCERS . . . Dean Martin is up to his old tricks. Plenty of beautiful women and a lot of action.

AROUND THE WORLD IN 80 DAYS . . . One of the all-time motion picture classics.

THOROUGHLY MODERN MILLIE . . . A hep flapper gets hep by experiment resulting in a funny, entertaining musical.

THE PARTY . . . Peter Sellers in an overlong comedy about an Indian film star who crashes a posh party.

NEVER A DULL MOMENT . . . Dick Van Dyke is pursued by a band of gangsters. Mistaken identity makes Van Dyke "act" the part to maintain his true identity.

BENJAMIN . . . Benjamin, a 17-year-old innocent, comes to live with a titled aunt and is plunged into the amoral life of 18th Century French aristocracy.

CAMELOT . . . A splendid film version of the musical based on Arthurian legend which blends fantasy and touching realism. Outstanding performances.

"Stop the Ad!" That's what a "for Rent" advertiser phoned the Pine Cone's Classified Section, and added, "I was deluged with calls."

CARMEL PINE CONE

by Rachel Morton, formerly critic of the Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram

What a thrilling experience it is to stand in the Courtyard of Sunset Auditorium and listen to the brass choir high up in the tower, as it ushers in the evening concerts of the famous Carmel Bach Festival.

Friday evening the opening concert of the 31st Annual season was given in Sunset Auditorium before a capacity audience: a cosmopolitan audience, knowledgeably aware of the unique excellence of this famed Festival. The music of Johann Sebastian Bach, after 31 years has become a part of life in Carmel... a tradition. That is why the chorus singing is so magnificent. This chorus knows its Bach and loves its Bach. And, for 13 years the Hungarian born Sandor Salgo has trained and perfected this chorus and ably conducted the Festival Orchestra.

A Sacred Cantata, "Lobe den Herrn" by Bach (sung in German) opened the program. With joyous exuberance orchestra and chorus plunged into the "Praise in Lord, O My Soul," an exuberance which seemed lacking in the two solos which followed, as sung by Mary Esther Nicola, soprano, and Margery Tede, contralto.

In striking contrast was the magnificent singing of both the tenor, Melvin Brown, and the bass, John West. In the recitation Mr. Brown revealed a robust voice of beautiful quality and a sound musicianship. Mr. West sang with thrilling resonant tone; with authority, and sensitivity. Both artists used excellent diction.

The Chorus, Orchestra and soloists joined in the superb closing chorale. All were inspired by the strong and able direction of Conductor Salgo.

In a Concerto for two Violins in D minor by Bach, the soloists were David Abel and Kenneth Goldsmith (concert master of the Festival Orchestra).

The brisk tempo of the "Vivace" was like a musical dialogue, in which one violinist aided and abetted the other in intricate interplay. The beautiful music of the Largo, with simple string accompaniment, was warmly and richly colored and exquisitely played by the two violinists. The Allegro, full of sparkle and vitality, splashed to a glorious finish.

Despite their disparities in stage demeanor, the one, so calm and controlled, the other, Abel, so tense, the two artists nonetheless, complemented one another perfectly and were given rousing recalls.

Mozart's "Great Mass" in C Minor which closed the program was the high-light of the evening, this in great part due to the fact that there were four outstandingly fine soloists: Delcina Stevenson, soprano; Mildred Owen, mezzo-soprano; Melvin Brown, tenor; and John West, bass.

Miss Stevenson, a protege of Lotte Lehman has a remarkable voice, gorgeous in color and well produced. The soprano aria, "Laudamus Te" with its perilous vocal leaps and plunges, presented no difficulties for this fine young artist.

A lovely vocal blend of two beautiful voices came with the duet "Domine Deus" as sung by Miss Stevenson and Miss Owen.

Deeply moving was the singing of the Double Chorus in "Thou that takest away" and a tour de force was achieved vocally in the difficult Trio soprano, mezzo and tenor "For Thou Alone Art Holy."

Repeated three times in grand acclaim, the Sanctus led into the great chorus singing of the mighty Hosanna, stirringly sung.

One gorgeous voice followed by another, fugue like, in the quartette of solo voices "Blessed is He who Cometh" and all forces combined in the grand finale "Osanna in Excelsis" which brought the audience to its feet. This was an evening of music long to be remembered.

Organ Recital at Community Church

by Warren Coker

The first of Kenneth Ahrens' organ recitals was played on the Walcker organ at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula. This is a charming and convincing instrument installed since last year's Bach Festival. Walcker is one of the three oldest organ houses in Europe, and is one of the three builders that Albert Schweitzer especially credits in his early papers formulating the Alsatian Organ Reform Movement. The idea of this movement was that organ builders could find a treasure of new specifications and building techniques in the accomplishments of past centuries, notably those of the baroque era. Dr. Schweitzer dedicated this instrument. And so it is unusually appropriate that one of the organ recitals of the Festival was heard last Tuesday afternoon on this Walcker instrument.

Mr. Ahrens opened his recital with the Buxtehude Toccata and Fugue in F Major. He immediately established a cleanliness of phrasing and a disciplined tempo which was consistent throughout the program. The five Buxtehude chorale-preludes which followed were well-played. In the second, "Lord, Keep Us Steadfast in Thy Love", the thematic material was kept well-organized, and the chorale melody appearing in the pedal was controlled. In the fourth of these chorale-preludes, "O Sacred Head Now Wounded", the intense religious quality of this form was obvious, and Mr. Ahrens dealt successfully with the textual implications of all of the chorale preludes to further this feeling. The final Buxtehude work was the Passacaglia in D Minor. This work is highly reminiscent of the Bach Passacaglia in C Minor which it preceded, although the Buxtehude has a less solemn theme, bordering on the sensuous. The beautiful voicing of the instrument was nowhere more thrilling than in this work. Mr. Ahrens' registration allowed the passacaglia subject to be always in the listener's awareness.

The inclusion of two sets of variations on a chorale was a bit much. An extended Bach chorale-prelude would have been of more interest than the Pachelbel variations which were played. The concluding piece of the Pachelbel group was the Prelude in D Minor. It was a very polished interpretation. The pedal and manual difficulties were surmounted skillfully and articulately.

The Prelude and Fugue in B Minor by Bach concluded this concert. This is a monumental work which Mr. Ahrens played with strength but facility. The treatment of the fugue subject was scholarly and lucid, and enabled the entire scope of the work to be realized.

Musical Comments

Saturday Evening A Musical Feast

by Margot Hyatt

The Saturday evening program was a musical feast. For color, both musical and visual, variety and high level musicianship it could not be surpassed.

The rousing voices of seven trumpets, four on stage, three in the balcony, and timpani playing Altenburg's Concerto created a festive atmosphere for the evening.

Edward Haug, Festival trumpeter since 1957, prepared the trumpet concerto edited by Robert King, by the great virtuoso-composer.

An elegant gilt-on-black concert harpsichord was on-stage. The instrument was even more dramatic when the bright red of the inside lid as it was raised for the second number of the program came to view. Everyone who had ever studied Latin strained to translate the gilt inscription "Mvica Tristis Cibvs Nostri Qui Mercantvr Amorem" on the lid.

Margaret Fabrizio appeared in a colorful gown of soft white on which large Matisse-inspired shapes in red, green and black were applied—her own design.

At the piano behind her was Ralph Linsley who was to play with her the Double Concerto for Harpsichord and Piano by C.P.E. Bach. Accustomed as Festival audiences are to hearing him play the harpsichord, it was a pleasing novelty to hear him play the piano which many did not realize he did so well.

The contrast between the delicate tinkling music of the Baroque instrument played with such charm by Miss Fabrizio, and the clean surety of the fort-piano as played by Mr. Linsley, was highly interesting.

Midway through the Larghetto, Miss Fabrizio became progressively more responsive to Maestro Salgo. Cellos were attentive and there was good movement throughout the strings.

The most seasoned performance of the evening was that of renowned Joseph Schuster who played the Boccherini Concerto for Cello in B flat major. In spite of a slightly off pitch beginning and a few slurs in unexpected places, his cadenzas in the lower registers left his audience clamoring for more. Mr. Schuster's beautifully quiet playing in the Adagio followed a sensitive line and created a mood. His full tones filled the hall, and his trills were exquisite.

Even greater enthusiasm was engendered by the singing of a Mozart Recitative and Aria from K.505 by coloratura soprano Delcina Stevenson. The finest ensemble playing of the evening was displayed by Marilyn Neely who played the piano obbligato with grace, feeling and precision.

Looking gorgeous in a peach colored gown which was a pleasing foil for her dark skin, her black hair piled high on her head, Miss Stevenson made a patrician figure of great dignity. She sang with such ease and poise, it was a joy to follow the continuation of phrases from one to another.

Maestro Salgo was unobtrusive throughout, but always in command. The audience in its enthusiasm brought them back many times, and finally the Maestro was moved to place a fatherly kiss on Miss Stevenson's brow.

One would think that the playing of the Haydn Symphony No. 97 following the intermission would have been anticlimactic, but it was not. A flawless performance and rarely heard artistic unity was achieved by the group of musicians, each of whom knew that he was hand-picked from among the several orchestras of which Salgo is director.

The Sunset audience showed such great appreciation and obvious affection for the Maestro that he was forced to play an encore, the Marriage of Figaro overture. Again, the well trained orchestra played with such joyousness that they were forced to give another, Bach's Air from the Suite in D Major. Very moving, this perhaps showed the sincerity of the orchestra's response to the Maestro's leadership.

Virtuoso Cello Recital by John Schuster

by Margot Hyatt

A tremendously exciting cello recital by world famous Joseph Schuster was shared with a very promising young soprano, Gloria Grace (Gigi) Prosper, Tuesday morning. The Parish Hall at All Saints' was well filled and the audience most appreciative.

Miss Prosper's brilliant voice was heard in a Handel cantata for soprano, "Salve Regina." She was accompanied by Robert Murray and Charles Heiden playing violins, with Paula Skolnick playing the cello continuo and Ralph Linsley, the harpsichord. The cantata in four movements gave her ample opportunity to demonstrate the flexibility of her voice and her fine control.

Mr. Schuster's first number, Chorale-Prelude by Johann Sebastian Bach, "Nun komm, der Heiden Heiland," began rather lugubriously with the low tones of the piano carried forward by the highly mellow tones of the cello, always well sustained. Ralph Linsley gave him excellent support and made a real contribution to the occasion at the piano.

Johann Christian Bach, was the composer of the great Concerto in C minor in which Schuster further demonstrated his artistry and skill. Evenness of the minor scales, repeated in pianissimo, of the allegro Maestoso; the gorgeous sustained notes of the adagio; the arpeggios of the cadenzas in the allegro energetica, in which the controlled use of the vibrato was never obtrusive; all were subordinate to the music.

After the first few notes of the Suite No. 3 in C major for Cello Solo by J. S. Bach, one hardly missed the piano accompaniment. By the end of this lively and brilliant work in seven movements, in which every facet of cello playing was called on, one did not miss it at all. In the intricate gigue, he played as easily and as accurately in the high registers usually covered by the violin as he did in the lower ones—a real tour de force which left his audience gasping.

The program ended with the Haydn Divertimento in D major in which he was joined again by the fine pianist, Ralph Linsley. As an encore he gave a sensitive and moving performance of the Ariosa by Bach.

The B Minor Mass

by Rachel Morton

The magnitude of Bach's musical genius was in full display on Sunday afternoon when the Carmel Bach Festival Orchestra, chorus and soloists, under the direction of Sandor Salgo presented the monumental Mass in B Minor in the Sunset Auditorium before an overflow audience.

Although in its 31st season, the Carmel Bach Festival still holds enthralled music lovers from many places, and at the end of a three hour performance the audience attested its delight in floor stamping and loud cheers. The ovation was justly won, both for the participants and for the fine authoritative and sensitive direction of the conductor, Sandor Salgo.

The soloists were: Delcina Stevenson, soprano; Dorothy Ledger, mezzo-soprano; Melvin Brown, tenor; Douglas Lawrence, baritone and John West, bass.

In a loud outburst of tone from the chorus came the opening of the "Kyrie." There followed a beautiful orchestral interlude which preceded the quiet supplication of the singers in "Kyrie Eleison."

The clarion tone, the crystal purity of Delcina Stevenson's soprano soared in the duet "Christe Eleison," dimming somewhat the mezzo of Dorothy Hedger.

One Choir followed another in the singing of the third Kyrie. With the orchestra setting a brisk tempo, the chorus singing glowed in a resounding and veritable "Gloria."

The Aria "Laudamus" was greatly enhanced by the fine violin obbligato as played by Kenneth Goldsmith. When Miss Stevenson's voice soared in the upper reaches of the Aria it gave exquisite pleasure.

In broad tone the full chorus expressed fervent thanks to God in "Gratias Agimus Tibi," the orchestra nobly contributing its share.

With a beautiful flute obbligato as played by David Shostac and a lyrical orchestra introduction came the duet for soprano and tenor "Domine Deus" Both voices had a liquid and effortless approach to the high entrances; both voices blended perfectly in the fast running passages and the slow ending was soul stirring in sheer vocal beauty. It was a tremendous performance and the mood was maintained in the next number when the chorus sang, "Qui Tollis Peccata."

The Aria "Qui Sedes ad Dexteram Patris" as sung

by mezzo Dorothy Ledger was greatly enhanced by the virtuoso playing of oboist Raymond Duse.

Then came the gorgeous voice of the Mass John West singing "Quoniam to Scelus Sanctus," this a voice reminiscent of the great Chaliapin.

Biting and brisk came the full bodied chorus in a flashing rendering of "Cum Sancto Spiritu."

The "Credo" opened with a strong declamation by the tenor "Credo in Unum Deum" and the chorus reiterated strongly "Patrem Omnipotentem."

Lacily interwoven were the voices of Miss Stevenson and Miss Ledger in the duet "Et In Unum Dominum."

Slowly and reverently the chorus began "Et Incarnatus," which led to the most moving music of the mass, "Crucifixus." In measured and almost funereal effect, the different vocal sections mourned in direct sadness—music emotionally stirring, superbly sung, ending in a whisper.

Starting was the sudden double forte singing of the full chorus in "Et Resurrexit" but dramatically thrilling.

Added to the roster of the very fine male singers was the first appearance here of Douglas Lawrence, baritone. His smooth velvet voice was most ingratiating, as was his clean articulation and sound musicianship.

A grand summing up of The Credo came with the chorus singing "Confiteor baptisma unum." Some very effective pianissimo singing came before the final brilliant build up.

In the "Sanctus" the voices of the chorus soared and exulted in high and noble singing. Then in slow broad rhythm came a mighty Fugue. The clipped utterances of the Osanna bound together with running passages all at a terrific tempo, showed the chorus at its musicianly best.

Again the tenor delighted with his sensitive richly textured singing of "Benedictus Qui Venit," a very fine flute obbligato played by Shostac preceded and accompanied the singer.

The "Agnus Dei" as sung by Miss Ledger lacked the depth and warmth of a contralto.

"Dona Nobis Pacem" as sung by the chorus in the closing number was more of a triumph than a quiet peace. But it was a fitting ending to a magnificent performance of the great B Minor Mass.

Marian Neeley Piano Recital

by Margot Hyatt

Marian Neeley chose one of Mozart's simpler pieces to show off the crystal clarity of her playing, her marvelous phrasing and her delicate pianissimo in the Monday morning piano recital at All Saints' Parish Hall. One found oneself holding one's breath as she played some of the Variations on "Ah! vous dirai-je maman" from which the famous "Twinkle, twinkle, little star" was taken.

Her next number, the andante and presto from Haydn's Sonata in D Major, was far more difficult, but just as controlled and clear.

Miss Neeley was joined by mezzo-soprano Margery Tede in a third number on the program, "Arianna a Naxos," a Cantata for Solo Voice, with piano, by Haydn. This consisted of two little known recitatives and arias. While the music let her show the wide range of her voice, and her dramatic ability, the piece seemed a bit long and arduous. The cooperation between Margery Tede and Marian Neely was outstanding.

Marilyn Neeley returned to the piano in the last number, a vastly attractive Sonata in D major by Galuppi, an 18th Century composer. Miss Neeley was more than equal to the technical varieties provided by this sonata which should be better known. She played a vivace movement by Della Ciaia as an encore.

Swim Jamboree At Carmel Pool

Over 175 youngsters enjoyed demonstrating to their families their newly acquired swim skills at the Carmel High School pool Friday morning during the Carmel School District Recreation Department's first official "Swim Jamboree."

Fancy flips and turns off the diving boards, racing fellow students across the pool and demonstrating life saving techniques, all went into a morning of fun and education.

The program is sponsored by the Recreation Department to teach children (ages 5-18) to swim and dive. Some began the program not knowing how to swim, others merely added to their repertoire of strokes.

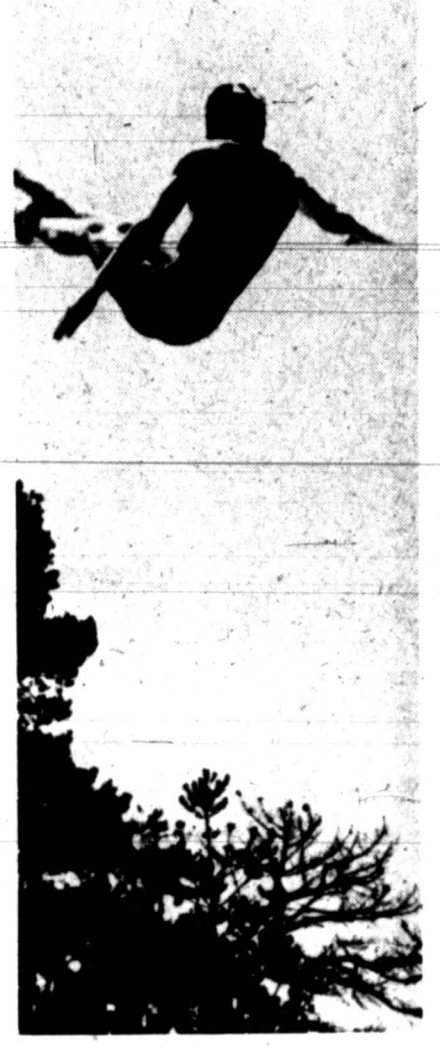

Spectators lined the pool and filled the bleachers and were able to judge the capabilities of the fine staff of instructors, headed by Swim Coach Ken White.

Mr. White reminded that adult lessons are given every Tuesday and Thursday evenings, and family swim nights scheduled for Monday and Wednesday evenings.

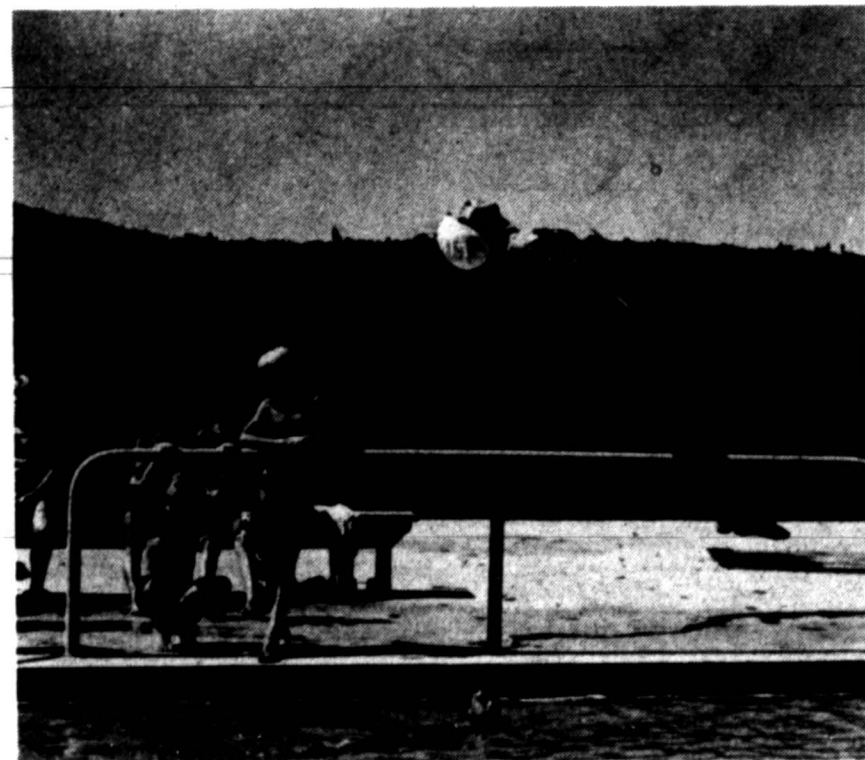

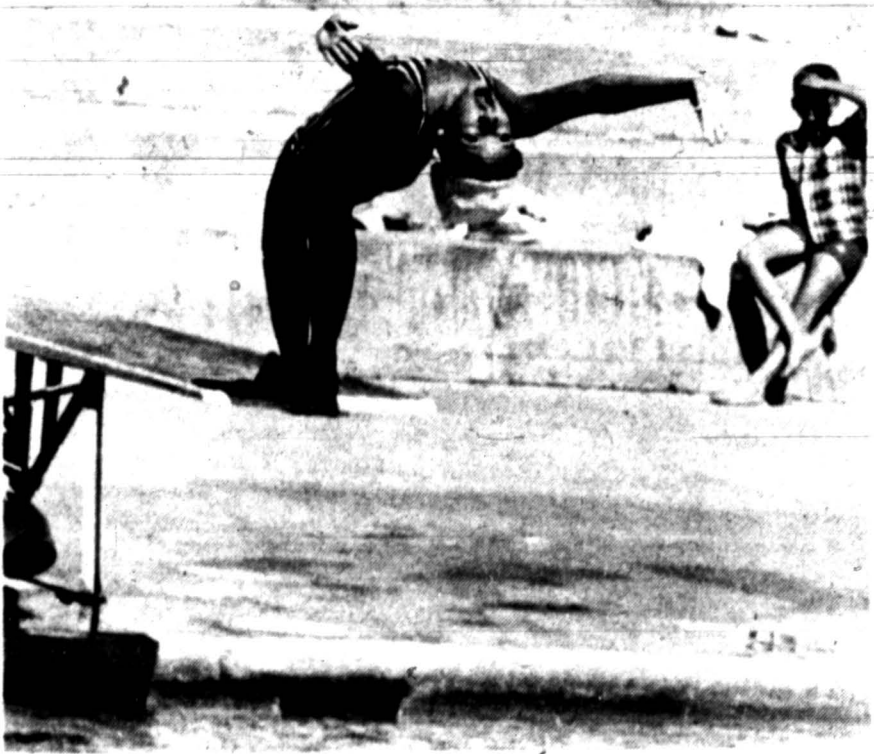

Twenty life saving badges were awarded.

The new Reading Room of First Church of Christ Scientist, Carmel, is in a building of traditional Carmel adobe structure with shake roof. Colors are harmonious inside and outside. The entire structure and furnishings lend an atmosphere of harmony where the bible, authorized Christian Science literature and periodicals are available for research, borrowing or purchase.

All are invited to come into the Reading Room to study the logical and understandable theology of this Christian religion. Why not come into this Reading Room and learn how clearly Christian Science relates the teachings of the Bible to living in today's world. This knowledge of the truth about God and man can bless you and all the members of your family. No need to speak to anyone . . . just come in and choose a chair and sit down to read. It could be the most inspiring and helpful time you've ever spent.

Parking here is not a problem as a large lot has been provided adjacent to the building for those using the Reading Room.

HOSE CART RACE BETTER THAN EVER

The Carmel Volunteers leave the station house determined to break last year's record. They did, but still lost to the Forestry Firemen. (L-R) John Hicks, Vince Rogers, Bill Hill, Pete Barnard and Ron Leidig.

The Forestry contestants round the first corner of their trip around the block to set a new record of 54.9 seconds. Last year the Carmel Volunteers won the Hose Cart Race with a record breaking 1:05 and again broke a record this year with 59.4, which was not quite good enough for first place. This year's Hose Cart Race was better than ever with crowds of people lining the street in front of the Fire Station. Our Carmel Volunteers are to be commended for their outstanding leadership and assistance in combating fires at all times of the day and night. Thousands of dollars are saved each year for their prompt and efficient service to the community.

Jim Hundley, a Carmel Volunteer Fireman, demonstrated the use of Monterey's Aerial ladder during the Hose Cart Race. Later there was a demonstration of Pacific Grove's Snorkel. These exhibitions are new to the Hose Cart Races and added much to this year's success.

Artists' Studios Visited By Large Crowd

Almost 1000 visitors studied their maps and managed to find a good many of the artists' studios which were open in various parts of Pebble Beach at the recent open house sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association.

One of the most popular, of course was that of Samuel F. B. Morse, whose paintings and drawings were on display at Del Monte Lodge.

Another was that of Mary Jane Spence whose impressionistic paintings were among the finest of the local artists. Also shown at her home were the paintings of de Groat. Mrs. Spence was general chairman of the tour.

One of the most interesting features of the tour was the chance to see Louise Cook in action as she explained the process of her enameling on copper. The colors she uses in her flower pieces are particularly enchanting.

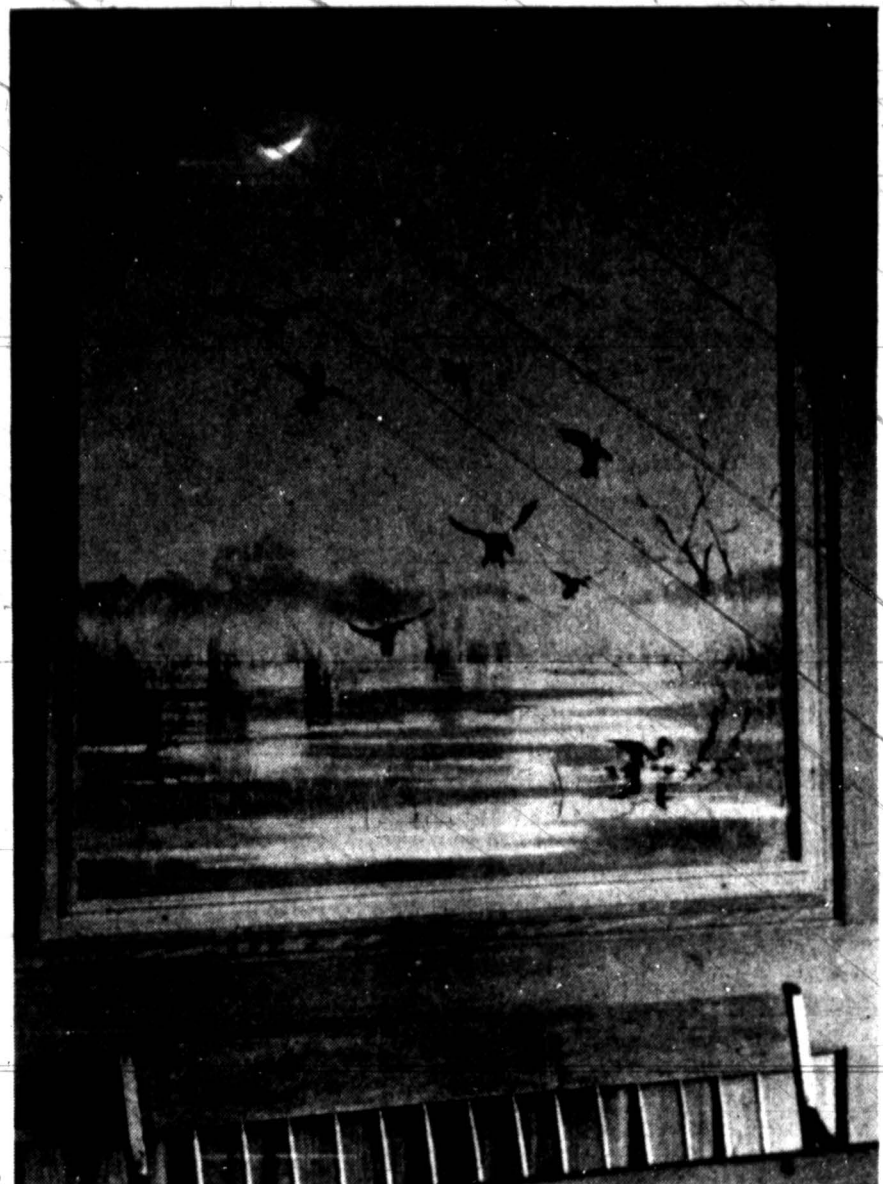

A fascinating display of Oriental art, some of it batik, was shown at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris.

An interesting exhibit of paintings and sculpture in the contemporary style was that of Group 9 displayed at the home of Isabel Taver-netti. These included work by Jan Albertus, Clarence Bates, Phyllis Holt, Rob Holt, Nina King, Fae Strickland, Vivian Stuart and Jean Wilsoo.

Many visitors enjoyed the tea at Del Monte Lodge, for which Virginia Stanton had decorated the tea table. Music was by Carmel harp-ist Nancy Ballard.

July 25, 1968

The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal 13

One of high points of the recent Artists' Studio tour was to see the early American dining room where the needlework screens done by the late Mrs. James M. R. Glaser were shown. Mr. Glaser is president of the Monterey Peninsula Symphony Association, and one the directors of the international Olympics.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

'Basket Picnics'

Baskets and picnics always go together and now the individual basket is a prettier way to serve the old fashioned box supper so popular at church socials. Carmel has its own specialized straw shop and many of the other gift shops carry baskets in all sizes. For the portable picnic nothing is more secure than a basket unless you resort to a shoe box which hardly has glamour.

A good picnic needs a good menu planned around a satisfying main dish. Let's start with Quick Clam Chowder in individual thermos wide-mouthed containers such as found in school lunch boxes. The piece de resistance is Oven-Broiled Chicken halves packed in a medium-sized covered basket lined with foil. Go-withs are individual loaves of French bread, little crocks of sweet butter (unless it is easier to slice and butter the bread or rolls at home, then wrap them in wax bags); have salad ingredients: greens, tomato and cucumber slices in plastic container; leak-proof container of salad dressing a la airlines; tiny salt and pepper shakers. Provide a large communal basket or hamper of assorted fresh fruits, packets of cheese, crackers, bucket of ice cubes for those who like their wine "on the rocks". Cokes for the children.

Quick Clam Chowder

One can (13 oz.) cream of vichyssoise soup; 1 can (8 oz.) minced clams with juice; 1 can (5 oz.) small whole clams with juice; 1 T. instant onion; light shake of pepper; 1/2 cup milk or light cream; salt to taste.

Combine all ingredients but milk and salt. Heat slowly to boiling point. Add milk, salt if desired. Heat to serving temperature but do not boil. Makes 6 cups.

Oven-Broiled Chicken

Broiler-Fryer chickens, halved or quartered, depending on size; marinade.

Arrange chicken halves or quarters in shallow pans; cover with marinade given below; chill overnight. Drain and place chicken on racks in shallow open roasting pan. Roast at 350 F. for an hour or until done, brushing with marinade every 15 minutes. If desired, run under broiler for deeper browning. Chill and wrap each piece in foil; put into individual baskets just before starting on picnic. If a long distance is in the offing, then pack the chickens in insulated container along with salad ingredients, butter and anything perishable in hot weather. Assemble and fill individual baskets at picnic site. The joy is that with meals-in-a-basket one can sit anywhere without table or eating utensils, that is with the chicken halves.

Marinade for Chicken

Half cup sauterne; 1 cup vegetable oil; shake of crumbled dillweed; 1 medium onion; sliced; 1 t. salt; quick grind of black pepper; corns; 1/2 t. oregano. Combine ingredients; shake well before using. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

A popular Peninsula picnic is a cold salmon basket apiece. These are fresh salmon steaks poached in a flavoursome liquid then chilled. The sauce is a watercress mousseline. All of this must be kept refrigerated and assembled at picnic into baskets.

Cold Salmon with Watercress Mousseline

Four fresh salmon steaks 1 inch thick; 2 1/2 cups water; 1/2 large onion, sliced; 2 celery stalks, sliced; 1 bayleaf; juice of 1 lemon; salt and freshly ground black pepper. Serves 4.

Combine ingredients in wide saucepan (excepting salmon) bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Add salmon steaks placing them on bottom of pan without overlapping. Cover pan and simmer gently until fish flakes easily with fork. Chill steaks in own liquid. Just before packing, drain. Wrap individually in foil packets; refrigerate. To make sauce, add chopped watercress to mayonnaise; season with salt

WHAT'S DOING?

Going out for the evening?
One of the first things to leave with the babysitter is the telephone number where you can be reached.

And don't forget a list of emergency numbers;
like Fire, Police, and Doctor. There's a special place on the inside cover of your directory for these numbers. Have you written them down?

Now, here's a real shaggy customer story for you. It seems there's a German shepherd dog in Los Angeles who answers phone calls and holds the receiver in his mouth until his master comes.
What's more, every month he pays the phone bill! He carries the payment in his teeth and drops it right on the counter of our public office.

Smokey the Bear reminds us to be extra careful this summer. A thing as small as a match . . . or a cigarette . . . or a spark from a campfire can destroy something as vast as a forest.

Initial delivery of the 1968 Pacific Telephone Directory for Monterey and San Benito Counties began yesterday according to Don Peters, Pacific Telephone manager. This first distribution will service 129,900 telephones in the two counties. Everyone should have their new book by Saturday night, July 27.

A tranquil setting with BOVINE grazing in lush pasture, the well-remembered waterhole of days gone by,
and Santa Ana Peak in the background is the choice of this year's cover.

Stevenson School Summer Program

With more than two hun-

In addition to this pro-

Christian Science Sunday Sermon

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." These words of Jesus as recorded in the Gospel of John, are part of the Lesson-Sermon which is titled "Truth" to be read in Christian Science churches
this Sunday.

Among related passages to be read from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is this: "We classify disease as error, which nothing but Truth or Mind can heal, and this Mind must be divine, not human."

YOU and the STARS --- Jewel White

Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)

Very good month for sense of unity with both marriage and friends. You must make uncertain re-vamp of some teen-age person who comes to you for advice. You can get that raise for the asking, too. Long distance call at end of month will bring romantic surprise & joy. Lucky No. 8.

Pisces (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)

Big tendency to splurge now, but watch the budget. Plan activities with mate or close friend instead of alone. A romantic atmosphere will start around the 30th. Be prepared for some jealousy in group meetings. You will shine and someone resent it. Win quiet, calm happiness. Lucky No. 9.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)

You will have the wish to travel but financial affairs will be so good you will reconsider. Sixth and 31st may find some deception from co-workers, especially second week. Much behind-the-scenes maneuvering. Love life picks up by the 4th. Lucky number for Aug. is 1.

Taurus (Apr. 21-May 21)

Family affairs will be smoothed out and much less friction, by Aug. 9th Venus brings you affection (like Instant-Romance. Be careful not to be burned.) Guard against the possible chance of fire in the home as well. Also watch not to lose small articles. Lucky number 11 or 2.

Gemini (May 22-June 21)

You will be able to finalize things you started long ago. Should also be a very good romantic period. Much entertaining and fun. Best not to travel though. Disappointments sure to plague you. You may even discover a hidden talent. Your lucky number for the month of August is 3.

Cancer (June 22-July 22)

Avoid all get-rich-quick schemes. Danger of over-doing on 21st. Month of physical weakness but emotional stimulation. Affection and good will from everyone. Mental interest and self-realization last week of month. Maybe even a trip of fun. Lucky number 4.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 23)

Employment and career matters on the Upbeat. You will prosper unexpectedly at every turn. Spend a little foolishly even if someone disagrees. Watch for new romantic adventure on 31st. Lucky number 5. Remember, Romance during the month of August is on the Up-beat.

Virgo (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)

Start some important wheels turning now for later finalizing. Cash in on your popularity. Put your charm to work on business deals as you can prosper from business-and-pleasure combination. Many windfalls come your way and, though you fret inwardly all is well. Lucky no. 6.

Libra (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)

The sun in Leo brings you romantic adventures. Personal recognition in your work will make you happy. Money will flow in around the 26th and you may even be elected to public office. Be especially nice to old people now. Take time to relax. Your lucky number for the month is 7.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

You will find that conventional behavior is best bet for financial and love interests all month. One critical loved-one will question every move. You may find yourself social-climbing and regret it later in year. Avoid mixing business associates with your social life. Lucky number 8.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

Be careful not to over-exert, though travel is favored, both mountains and waterways. Creative work should bring added praise and money. Keep a new plan under your hat and don't over-do romantic adventuring. Gossip and rumor from someone secretly envious of you. Lucky number 9.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 20)

Some of the most vital decisions of your entire life could take place now. Very good for spiritual quality and starting a new and different life. Focus on income on 8th. Love takes over on 12th and anything started now will produce good vibrations for entire year. Lucky number 7.

Operation Shoestring Given A Pull at La Playa Reception

Of the 500 youngsters between the ages of 5 and 14 who turned out for Operation Shoestring in Seaside, 175 were of Caucasian background, 50 were Oriental and the rest Negro, said Rev. H. H. Lusk at the recent reception at the La Playa Hotel.

Sponsored by the Bahai's of Carmel, Norbert Kammer made the introductions of prominent board members such as Rev. Don Johnson of Carmel Valley Community Chapel, the Rev. Carleton Whitehead of the Church of the Religious Science, and Mrs. Thomas Duncan of Carmel, fund-raising chairman.

In response to questions from the audience regarding the greatest need, Lusk replied, "Of course money is the greatest need, but volunteer help of any kind will be most appreciated."

There are three centers in Seaside, The Bethel Baptist Church, St. Matthias Episcopal Church and Friendship Baptist Church, he pointed out. Men, women and teenagers are needed to contribute time as teaching assistants, clerical workers, drivers, playground helpers or to teach any sort of craft or recreation program. They may call 373-0679 or just come when they can to Bethel Baptist Church at 890 Elm in Seaside. Everyone with even an hour to spare will be put to work.

The young Negro minister attended an urban training development center in Chicago this spring under a Ford Foundation grant. The Ministerial Association of the Peninsula, believing that

LOG

A RAMBLING LOG COTTAGE OF INDETERMINATE AGE AND NO ARCHITECTURAL STYLE WHATSOEVER, but it sits in a redwood canyon on the edge of a year-round stream in a ferny glen, and you have to cross a bridge to get to it. And when you light the log where many fires before yours have been lit, and you listen and all you hear is the evening breeze in the forest surrounding you, or a bird's song on its way home or the soft burble of the stream, why then you will either think you are in the loveliest place on earth—or you won't. And if you don't think you will, then forget it! But if you think you might, then see our little log house about 12 miles down the coast from Carmel. Price $27,500.

ADOBE

PERHAPS THIS IS YOUR PLACE IN THE SUN... a happy little post adobe on a knoll overlooking all the beautiful things of Carmel Valley. This is a small-scale adobe, and we are seeking a couple or a single person who may have almost given up finding a ranch home, petite size. Panoramic views, even from your bed! Luscious master bath, den or guest bedroom and bath, kitchen planned by a gourmet, service room AND a studio planned by the painter-owner for ideal working conditions for an artist, with hot and cold water, skylights, and sliding doors open to the view. Full acre knoll, priced at $55,000.

PALOS VERDES STONE

EASILY ONE OF THE MOST LUXURIOUS HOMES IN A COUNTRY SETTING in this whole area, the handsome stone residence is situated on a bluff overlooking the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club from the oak trees of Rancho Canada. The ocean is off to the West and the sunsets are stupendous. It's not inexpensive—it's priced at $95,000—and it's not for a big family. But if you're a couple who like to entertain, who enjoy spacious (over 2600 square feet) and gracious rooms, and who insist upon perfection of detail, comfort and convenience, it would be our great pleasure to show you this home.

CEDAR TIMBERS AND STONE

CLEVER CRAFTSMEN HAVE BLENDED MASSIVE TIMBERS AND NATIVE STONE and hundreds of feet of plate glass into a home as unique as its "Sound of Music" setting above the fog line on over six acres of magnificent redwoods and ferns. 12 months of sunshine, crystal clear spring with 5000-gallon surplus water storage, delightful little orchard, and hunting and fishing at your doorstep. Try THAT for size if you'd like a wilderness setting with pavement right to your door! And what a door! And what it leads to! Every convenience of modern penthouses in this otherwise rugged and rustic residence planned for two and their guests. Price $59,500 for the most original and well built home you've ever seen in such a setting.

Invasion of Carmel Beach

How long has it been that the Carmel resident and the visitor walked Carmel Beach together in harmony? Probably since the very inception of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

But, time has a way of changing things. Those who previously strolled along the beach thinking of nothing but soft thoughts may now find their tranquility interrupted and thinking only of their safety.

Carmel Beach recently has been the scene of a number of disrupting activities that have made us all stop and gasp.

Two weeks ago the Carmel Pine Cone reported that a young visitor to our town died on the beach from sniffing hair spray from a plastic bag. He had been invited to a party on the beach and took part in their deadly activity.

A week later four men allegedly raped a 19-year-old girl. The men had invaded a party, unwanted, and, according to the police report, were looking for trouble. The girl, accompanied by two male companions, took leave of the party to avoid trouble and walked down the beach. The alleged assailants followed, and held the boys at bay with knives and raped the girl. One of her male companions was beaten while the girl's clothes were torn off. She was also beaten about the face.

The next evening Carmel Police arrested two out-of-town men on charges of possession and furnishing of the drug, LSD. The Pine Cone reporter was eye-witness to the arrest. Then the next day, a Fort Ord soldier was arrested on charges of malicious mischief after he allegedly threw sand in the eyes of a horse ridden by a 17-year-old Carmel girl. She told police that she was riding her horse along the surf at about 7 p.m. when a group of six men asked her for a ride. She said "no" and with that, one of the men threw sand in the horse's face. The girl was thrown from her frightened mount.

Most of the assailants in the foregoing cases were from out of town, while the victims were young Carmel residents.

Complaints have been pouring into the Pine Cone with today's use of the beach at night, the large unruly parties on the beach, and the apparent lack of police protection. Prompted by the concern of our readers, the Pine Cone met with Police Chief Clyde Klaumann and Police Commissioner Ken Brown.

Chief Klaumann assured us that he is doing everything in his power to enforce the beach laws as well as watch after the rest of the city. He says, "It's just a matter of man-power... we can stretch just so many so far." The Chief went on, "I've authorized my night lieutenant to call in as many men for overtime as he feels necessary to clear up the situation. Lately we have been bringing in officers early, working them overtime sweeping the beaches in an attempt to find violators on the beach."

"Just a couple of weeks ago," Chief Klaumann reminded us "we made several arrests for sleeping on the beach. The Monterey Court fined them $65 each." He is just as concerned with the beach problem as those who criticize his department. "We can't abandon the rest of the town to patrol the beach... we need the man-power."

The Chief's plea may be answered, for the City Council last week unanimously agreed to ask Carmel merchants for a dollar a month to perform the usual free service of shaking their doors at night, which has been tying up an officer who could otherwise be available at the beach.

When asked what can be done about the large parties on the beach, the Chief answered vehemently, "We need laws... just because we don't like something does not mean that we can do something about it... we need some laws."

"If you want to help us," he encouraged, "write your Congressmen and Representatives and complain." He continued, "If we still had a vagrancy law, I'd be able to clear out the park in one day." The Chief kept stressing the point again and again, "We need official laws!"

Shaking his head in disgust, Chief Klaumann solemnly said, "The restrictions on the police are far greater than on the criminal."

Carmel recently had one law removed from the city books that may have made Chief Klaumann's plight a bit easier in maintaining law and order. It was the lifting of the rule of NO DRINKING ON THE BEACH. Now it is perfectly legal to drink on our beaches! Not only does this give the green light to bigger, rowdier parties, but it gives way to have broken bottles and rusted beer cans hidden in the sand. The City had a hard enough time keeping the Beach free of refuse before the drinking law was lifted. Now it will be almost impossible.

The Pine Cone encourages everyone who enjoys our beach to oppose this, and demand a revision of our beach ordinances. We deserve to walk our beaches in safety. The Police Department is trying to do their share, maybe the City Council will do theirs.

ditional parking officer, probably a female who will relieve the male officer now performing these duties.

The Council also budgeted $4250 to go toward hiring a part-time dog catcher.

Cultural monies narrowly missed being cut drastically. Because of the absence of Cole Weston, who was watching over the Bach Festival, the Council held back on their cuts. Mayor Barney Laiolo said, "I feel we are spending too much for culture... nearly $200,000." Councilman Herb Blanks said, "You can't expect a small community to pay for programs like we've been having."

No Saturday Mail Service

Because of the Congressional mandate to cut back Federal employment, certain mail service limitations will start locally July 27, announced Fred Strong.

The following curtailments will take effect locally: Effective July 27, Saturday window service will be discontinued. Beginning July 1, all planned extensions of rural delivery were curtailed.

If the performance test is satisfactory to the City Council, this Terra Tiger beach buggy will be purchased. Main purpose: to control the disrupting activities on Carmel Beach. It will also be used to clean the beach by the Public Works Department. It speeds over the sand at about 8 mph, can turn 180 degrees within four feet, has 6 wheel drive and can carry two men and equipment.

An Ad in the Pine Cone IS Your Best Value!

Three Irene Borg paintings have now sold—in two and-a-half weeks — since Stan Perks of The Tudor Gallery ran the advertisement in the July 4 issue of the Pine Cone featuring one of her works. The painting shown in the ad sold within the hour after publication to a couple with the Pine Cone in hand. The second sold, immediately after the July 11 issue in which we commented about the first sale. The third sold last weekend. All of these are quality paintings with price tags accordingly. Doesn't this action say something to you — like — "an ad in the Pine Cone IS a better value?"
